FYI Helps Generating Company Minimize Oil Leaks Using Video

Working with a major power generation facility FYI Technology solved a critical issue utilizing Longwatch's video system and Canary Labs historian. The 1.6 GW generation plant (Four 400 MW turbines fired by dual fuel boiler systems) alternates between using oil or gas to fuel the boilers depending on a number of criteria. Oil is pumped from Tankers into holding tanks approximately ½ mile from the plant. The 3 holding tanks have capacity for 13 to 20 million gallons each. Oil is then pumped to day tanks at the plant (4 total - 1 for each Boiler holding approximately 1 million Gallons).

During the oil transfers, vibration from the large pumps often pose problems...
